

SchoolSuppliesNJ.com to Provide Donations to Local PTA's

Lakewood, NJ (8.11.09) – Locally owned and operated, woman-owned business, Cheap Office Supplies Inc. has launched a brand new specialty school website catering specifically to the New Jersey market, specifically private, public & home schools.

SchoolSuppliesNJ.com, offers a wide range of specialty school items compared to the limited inventory carried by its competitors Staples, Office Depot and Wal-Mart stores. Over 20,000 discounted specialty school items including PreK-8 learning materials, educational toys, teaching & art supplies, games, puzzles, classroom décor and teacher resources are available through the site. The vast product selection allows customers to obtain specialty school products that are normally hard to obtain via large retail channels.

In addition, SchoolSuppliesNJ.com has created a unique program to help give back to New Jersey communities. A 5% donation of the total amount of every order will be made to each customer's PTA of choice. The payments will be dispersed at the beginning of each quarter, and all a customer needs to do is enter the name of their local PTA upon checkout. Each PTA will be notified of the donation prior to any funds being dispersed.

"Supporting our New Jersey school systems, as well as parents & teachers, is important. Many people think that only businesses suffered during the recent economic downturn. However, PTA organizations as well as schools certainly were affected. This is our way to show our support to the PTA's and give them a little economic boost", explains Janet Arora, President of Cheap Office Supplies Inc.

The site, which carries hard to find teaching, art & school supplies, offers fast, convenient delivery within the state of New Jersey. Detailed descriptions and pictures of each product help you make informed purchasing decisions. Those looking to place bulk orders, or have product related questions should call 888.302.4327 to speak with a school supply customer service representative.

SchoolSuppliesNJ.com along with OfficeSuppliesNJ.com are part of the company's Buy Local New Jersey program. The Buy Local New Jersey program encourages local New Jersey homes, schools & businesses to take advantage of local delivery routes and competitive pricing for both specialty school items and business products.
